

Sandesh Data Systems is a software provider based in Chennai, India offering reliable enterprise solutions. Sandesh Data Systems has developed enterprise applications for healthcare and manufacturing industries provided information technology consulting and software development services and developed flexible global business practices that enable companies to operate more efficiently and produce more value.

We offer software products for:

- s Healthcare Information Management
- s Document Management
- s Automation Systems

Our Products include Medical Device Management and Computerized Physician Order Sets. We provide professional Medical Transcription services. We are time driven and deliver professional quality services. Please contact us to discuss how together we can improve the quality of healthcare.

Features

Improve Quality of Service

Maintains quality and safety standards by tracking maintenance and usage of devices.

Increase Availability

Maintains devices in operating condition and increases availability by tracking maintenance schedules.

Manage Preventive Maintenance

Manage device maintenance activities and schedules and captures maintenance and calibration history.

Locate Devices

Locates devices on the hospital floor using wired or wireless communication and alerts the owners by notifications.

Improve Operating Performance

Improves performance by keeping devices in good operating condition and eliminates preventable device failures.

Save on Device Costs

Saves on costs by increasing the operating life of devices and tracks the device inventory.

We match innovation with technology to build high value solutions that meet your business goals.